COL. A. T. PERKINS TAKES CHARGE AS MANAGER OF U. R.

In Statement After Appointment by Wells He Says He Will Try to Deal Frankly With Public.

FIRST TASK TO STUDY DUTIES

Former Soldier Succeeds Mc-Culloch, Under Indictment for Burglary; Cameron's Place Unfilled.

Col. Albert T. Perkins, former director of combat railways for the American Expeditionary Forces, assumed today his duties as General Manager of the United Railways, following his appointment to that post yesterday by Receiver Rolla Wells. His successor Richard McCulloch, under indictment for burglary in the sheet of the referendum petitions. The probability of the appointment of Col. Perkins was stated in the Post-Dispatch exclusively on July 1. Col. Perkins announced his intention to seek the confidence of the public by frank discussions with it on the street railway problem of St. Louis, has studied the property and the service it is called upon to give. His statement in this regard follows:

To Deal Frankly With Public.

"I feel that, as a result of my experience, I am fitted to give the proper and proportionate consideration to the four main interests involved. They are service to the public, including the visiting public, employees of the company, the municipality and property holders."

"At the present time I am not familiar with the conditions and affairs of the properties. The first work I feel I should do will be to make the acquaintance of the operating staff and employees to establish as well as I can a candid working relationship with them. Then I shall have to make a careful and extended study of the plant and operations of the property. Until I can do that, of course, it will be impossible for me to give any real, advice to the receivers or any general statement to the condition and policy to the public."

"But just as soon as I can I shall want to deal very frankly with the public through the press. The present street-car problem in most of our large cities is a serious one, and I hope to win the co-operation of the public and press in working out our street-car service in a way that will be at least as effective as done in any other city."

Cameron's Successor Unnamed.

Receiver Wells said that several men had been suggested to him for McCulloch's successor, but that he had had Col. Perkins in mind at all times and had determined upon his appointment to the Col. Perkins' position.

Wells mentioned the fact that during his term as Mayor he was associated with Perkins for three years. He was referring to the fact that Perkins, during his administration, was consulting expert for the Municipal Bridge and Terminal Commission. "He is a high-class man and will prove invaluable in rehabilitating the property," Wells said.

Wells said that the naming of a successor to Bruce Cameron, superintendent of transportation, would be deferred until Perkins was enabled to acquaint himself with the property. The salary fixed for Perkins was not announced. McCulloch was paid $25,000 a year.

Was at Front 20 Months.

Col. Perkins saw 20 months' service at the front in France. He went abroad with the Fourteenth (Harvard) Engineers, which, with the Twelfth (St. Louis Engineers), were two American regiments of any branch of service to enter the fighting.

When the armistice ended fighting, Col. Perkins had been advanced to the post of director of the American light railways in France, with 12,000 men in his command. The function of the light railways was to keep the army in motion and to supply the troops. The rails followed each advance. Col. Perkins' command crossed a mile of No Man's Land and made connection with the captured German light railways 24 hours after the advance of the Americans began.

Awarded D. S. C.

In awarding him the Distinguished Service Cross, the War Department made the following citation of Col. Perkins:

As deputy and later as manager of light railways, he undertook the task of organizing a light railway service for the American expeditionary forces. His long and complete railroad experience and knowledge assured the success of these lines. By his foresight in promptly gathering from the Judge of Loyalty.

Although he spoke English with a decidedly foreign accent, Frank Zlatach, an applicant for naturalization before Judge Treiber in the United States District Court yesterday, demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Judge that he speaks perfect "American" and was consequently admitted to citizenship.

"Do you believe in anarchy or polygamy?" the Judge asked Zlatach.

"Nothing doing," the applicant replied.

"Are you married and the head of a family?"

"You bet your life."

"Do you intend to stay in this country?"

"I'll say so."

With a smile at Zlatach the Judge said: "You are acceptable, you may take the oath."

Judge Treiber heard 75 applications for naturalization. Many cases were those of men who, in the opinion of naturalization examiners, were not yet fit for citizenship because of their ignorance of the laws and customs of this country. Many of the applications were passed, the Judge said, but the applicant to go to school, learn more of the country and its laws and try again to pass the test for citizenship.

Nationalities represented among those admitted to citizenship are: Eight Germans, two Australians, 10 Hungarians, one Frenchman, seven Italians, one Swiss, six Romanians, Turk, three Greeks, three Englishmen, one Irishman, two Canadians, one Luxemburgian, one Dane and one Syrian.

ROME CITIZENS SOLVE RENT
PROBLEM BY LIVING IN CAVES

Dwell in Rocks Beside Art Schools
in City Described as Cradle

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

ROME, June 23.—"Cavemen" residents of a group of Roman houses living in Rome—literally described as the cradle of civilization—side by side with institutions of art and learning. The caves under the very shadow of the British art schools and the Italian College of Modern Arts; within a short distance is the national stadium. On the other side of them is the Porta del Popolo, through which before the days of railways all pilgrims to Rome passed.

The reversal of Romans to the caves is not retrogression; it is evolution. Rents in Rome have been so exorbitantly high that these Romans have sought refuge in the tufo rocks of Rome.

All efforts of the municipal police to eject the tenants from the caves have failed. The "cavemen" would go away, but return as soon as the attention of the police turned to another direction.

ROCKEFELLER IS 80 YEARS OLD

Celebrated Birthday and Says He Began to Live.

By the Associated Press.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 8.—John D. Rockefeller, who was 80 years old today, celebrated his birthday at Pocantico Hills estate yesterday, so that he could depart for Seal Harbor, Me., this morning. Guests of his "party" included his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., his son's wife and their children and about 100 neighbors and friends. A New York miller, born in 1836, sang old air hymns and popular songs.

Replying to the felicitations of his guests on his long life, Rockefeller said: "I hope you will all live to not only be 80 years old, but 90 or 100, for I have just begun to live."

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 8.—Escorted by a fleet of warships the transport George Washington, bringing President Wilson home from France, passed Quarantine and moved slowly down New York Harbor at 1:20 p. m. today.

The President will land at Hoboken, where several thousand school children will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" as he steps ashore, and then he will be taken to Carnegie Hall in New York for a short address.

Guns Boom, Whistles Blow.

The Presidential transport was under the escort of two battleships, 38 destroyers, one mine sweeper and one dirigible balloon. Four of the destroyers sailed from Brest with the President. The others went out today and met the President's ship east of Sandy Hook and fired a salute.

As the transport passed Fort Hancock the guns boomed a Presidential salute, each 10 minutes later by Fort Hamilton and Fort Wadsworth. The shrill whistles of harbor craft took up the din.

The President and Mrs. Wilson stood on the bridge of the George Washington as the vessel steamed slowly up the harbor to her pier at Hoboken, convoyed by destroyers and welcome craft of all descriptions. The rails of the transport were lined with cheering soldiers cheering and waving their caps.

The battleship Pennsylvania, bearing five members of the President's Cabinet—Secretaries Daniels, Baker, Lane, Glass and Wilson—led the way, followed by the Oklahoma with George Washington at her stern.

The President's flag was flying at the foremast of the George Washington.

Carbines Fired With Craft.

Except for the wide lane through which the transport passed, the harbor seemed literally filled with small craft of every kind, carrying excursionists who shouted and waved a welcome to Mr. Wilson. A great crowd of well-wishers also had assembled on the Staten Island shore and the New Jersey side.

The George Washington had a clear way in the harbor. Police and naval boats preceded the transport and her escort, sending out of their path excursion craft, ferries and barges.

The dreadnaught Pennsylvania, with Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, and other members of the Cabinet, and a number of United States Senators and Representatives aboard, sailed through the Narrows on her way to meet the George Washington at 2:30 a. m.

Labor Aids in Welcome.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, headed a delegation of 25 prominent labor leaders from Central and South American countries who went down the bay on a city ferryboat to meet the President. The South American laborers are here attending a conference of the Pan-American Federation of Labor which opened yesterday.

Another ferryboat carried 1,900 residents of Staten Island and a large number of relatives and friends of the soldiers returning on the George Washington. All the vessels of the welcoming fleet were gaily decorated with bunting from stem to stern.

On duty for the President's arrival were 1,100 policemen from the Jersey City and Hoboken forces.

Immediately after the welcoming exercises in Carnegie Hall, President Wilson will take a special train for Washington.

The police arrangements for safeguarding the President during his two hours stay in New York are the most elaborate ever planned for the safety of a chief executive.

The streets along which the President is to pass in New York on his

Letter to Post-Dispatch, Mailed in London Last Tuesday Morning, That Reached St. Louis Monday Night

The Old World.
LONDON OFFICE
20, COCKSPUR STREET,
LONDON, S.W.1.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch,
St. Louis.

By favour of the British Air Ministry the London staff of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch send you their cordial greetings and good wishes by the first airship to make the momentous trip across the Atlantic from England. The R-34, which has been specially designed and built to create a record heralding such almost unimaginable possibilities in the near future, is expected to start from East Fortune some hundreds of miles from London in another twenty-four hours, and this letter is being mailed in London at seven-thirty p. m. today, being the latest moment possible to catch the airship before its departure from Scotland. The conditions at the moment of writing are extremely unfavourable, strong winds from the northwest, dense clouds and a temperature more fitting to March than June, but it is believed that the confidence of the Air Ministry and the pilots in the air-going qualities of the R-34 is so strong that they will not be deterred by the weather from setting out on their historic, and let us hope, thoroughly successful adventure.

Yours sincerely,

JAMES M. TUOHY,

London Correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CRIME FALLS OFF
FIRST DRY WEEK

Police Reports Show Diminishing Violence for First Seven Days of Wartime Prohibition.

The first week of war-time prohibition in St. Louis, which ended last night, has shown a marked decrease in crimes and in the number of arrests.

During the week but one serious instance of bloodshed occurred. This was the case of Peter Birmingham, who was shot and killed by a policeman whom a number of youths had attacked.

With this exception, the police records show only a few minor holdups and burglaries. Last night no robbery in the streets was reported, and only a few small thefts in buildings.

The average nightly number of arrests in Central Police District, the downtown section, which includes Market street, is now about four. It was formerly 20 or more.

Violence on Decrease.

The number of arrests throughout the city shows the 12 arrests were made on charges of assault in the past week, and that none of the assaults resulted fatally. In the previous week there were 18 assaults, with two resultant deaths. There were two suicides last week, and three the week before.

However, the policemen are not idle. They do not have to swing their night sticks with such frequency, they typewriter or wield the pen with unprecedented diligence, in making out reports. They have to watch the more than 600 former saloons which have remained open to sell soft drinks, and to write reports on them, especially to those which venture upon the sale of 2½ per cent beer.

Police Are Guarded.

Since the arrival of these girls the striking operators have been received at the craft by great searchlights, which made her visible to thousands of spectators who had come here in motor cars, trains and boats.

The plan to get away at 5 a. m. today was abandoned after local weather conditions made it impossible for the dirigible's crew to overhaul the engines yesterday afternoon.

It was one of the quietest weeks the police force has known in many years. Of course, in police work one never knows what is going to happen, but it seems reasonable that, with the cause of much crime eliminated, the results will be lessened.

HAWS TELLS WHY HE IS
"GLAD BARLEYCORN IS GONE"

Declares He Told House He Was Glad
Because It Ended Anti-Saloon League Lobby.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 8.—Friends of Harry B. Hawes, much to his chagrin, are twisting him this morning over a story in a St. Louis morning newspaper quoting him as saying, "I am glad John Barleycorn is gone."

Representative Fess, Republican of Ohio, said the measure should be passed as soon as possible.

"Without legislation to enforce wartime prohibition," he declared, "it soon will become as much of a dead letter as the fourteenth amendment."

Representative Cantrell, Democrat of Kentucky, appealed to the antiprohibitionists to be "game sports and give the drys a chance." I am in favor of making the bill rigid enough to satisfy every member of the Antisaloon League," said he.

"How is the new prohibition?" is the way his friends greet him. Hawes says what he really said in his brief address to the House was, "The only reason I am glad John Barleycorn is gone is that it has removed from the legislative lobby the Anti-Saloon League, which always has been a disturbing factor in legislative deliberations."

HOUSE MINORITY REPORT CRITICISES DRY ENFORCING LAW

Findings Sharply Assailing Views of Majority on Pending Measure Signed by Igoe and Dyer.

"PROPOSED ACTION EXCEEDS POWERS"

It Is Declared to Be "New Legislation" and Therefore Unconstitutional, and to Encroach on Rights.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—A minority report on pending prohibition legislation in the House by members of the Judiciary Committee was made public last night. The contention of those who favor the war-time and constitutional amendment enforcement measure is sharply criticized in the views of the minority. The report is signed by Representatives Igoe and Dyer of Missouri, Garis of Ohio, Steele of Pennsylvania, and Carlson of Wisconsin. It is said that Graham of Pennsylvania would have signed the report if present.

Opposition to the proposed prohibition enforcement legislation is based by the minority on these grounds:

1. That the provisions for the enforcement of war-time prohibition carry a definition of intoxicating liquors which extends the prohibitory beyond the limits of the act and to that extent is new legislation which Congress has not the right now to pass under the war power. We believe the original act should be repealed.

2. That, as to constitutional provisions, section 2 of the amendment provides that "the Congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation," and the bill purports to do this in the theory that the action of Congress is supreme, and totally ignores the concurrent power of several states.

3. That the bill goes beyond the provisions of the constitutional amendment, particularly in defining intoxicating liquors so as to include beverages that are not in fact intoxicating.

Argue for Repeal of Law.

The question of whether the existing war-time act is first to be repealed by the minority. In so doing that the existing law should be repealed and that Congress has no power to pronounce all beverages containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol intoxicating, the report says:

"The provisions for the enforcement of the war prohibition act contains a definition of intoxicating liquors which is effected new legislation. The act of Nov. 21, 1918, prohibited the sale of distilled spirits for beverage purposes and also beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors for beverage purposes. In the recent cases in New York, where this statute was construed, it was held that only intoxicating beverages were included, and that beer containing 2.75 per cent of alcohol by weight was within the statute only if intoxicating, which was to be determined as other questions of fact."

"Whether or not the original act of Nov. 21, 1918, can be sustained as valid under the war power, it seems to us that at this date, under the peace conditions that now exist, Congress is wholly without power to extend the provisions of that act so as to include all beverages which contain in excess of 1 per cent of alcohol and call them intoxicating."

"This legislation cannot be justified on the theory that the original act is being valid and in force that any amendment thereof extending its provisions would likewise be valid. The power of Congress rests wholly on the war power, and the conditions existing at this time are such that not only should the act not be extended, but should be repealed."

In explaining the opinion that prevailed prior to the adoption of the nation-wide prohibition amendment the report says:

Encroachment on State Power.

"Previous to the adoption of the eighteenth amendment it was never doubted but that the power to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquors was reserved to the several states. This has heretofore been regarded as an elementary principle by the Supreme Court of the United States. The tenth amendment to the Constitution provides:

"The powers not delegated to the United States, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively or to the people." Until the adoption of the eighteenth amendment no such power was delegated to the United States."

Taking up the problem affecting the power of Congress to enforce a constitutional amendment the report continues:

"Assuming, however, that Congress has the power to legislate with out regard to the concurrence of the states, what is the limit of that power?" The majority con- and that Congress may not only enact a full code of law for enforcement, but under the authority to enforce by appropriate legislation Congress may define intoxicating liquors so as to include nonintoxicants and punish acts which themselves are not given by the amendment.

"If Congress may now legislate so that intoxicating liquors may be defined to include nonintoxicating liquors, then any future Congress may define it so as to exclude liquors that are intoxicating. The things prohibited are specifically and definitely set forth, and section 1 of the amendment leaves nothing for Congress to add or take away. It is legislation complete in itself and the only power given to Congress is in section 2, and that power is to enforce the prohibition of section 1.

Words of Law Disregarded.

The contention of the majority, if upheld, would make void the carefully selected words used in the amendment and render it meaningless. It would substitute for the words "intoxicating liquors" the words "any liquors," or the words "alcoholic liquors." It would likewise extend the power of Congress beyond "manufacture," "transportation," "sale," "import" and "export" and their stead would insert a general control over all those who come to its logical conclusion. It would impose meaningless the limitation imposed by the use of the words "for beverage purposes," because some Congress might say that you cannot completely prohibit the manufacture or sale unless you prohibit the manufacture and sale for any purpose whatever, as prohibition which has been proposed in the States under the general police power.

The principal car is forward. In it is located the chart house, with all necessary instruments for navigation and control. These include altimeters, giving the altitude; compass, giving the heading; air speed meters, giving the air speed; engine telegraphs to the different engine rooms, rudder and elevator controls for controlling direction, and means for intercommunication. Running lights are provided and one or more searchlights are available.

The chart house is occupied by the commanding officer, quartermaster and three officer assistants, one of whom is the engineer.

Just abaft the chart house is an insulated sound-proof wireless booth, with up-to-date wireless apparatus. The trailing antennae are 400 feet long, and a range of 800 miles is obtained, though better than that is already indicated, for, during the trip across the ocean, the R-34 was in touch with Newfoundland, Scotland and the Azores at the same time.

With the wireless, it was possible to determine her exact position by radio compass bearings from the three points, and was therefore independent of astronomical observations of the sun.

"Instead of extending the act to include beverages not now included in the prohibition, Congress should at least lift the ban to the extent suggested by the President.

"If, however, the act is valid and is not to be repealed, the other provisions will materially aid in its enforcement and should be adopted."

The minority contended that prohibition enforcement, under the constitutional amendment, could only be really brought about by joint state and Federal action. The length of discussion of the phrase "concurrent power" as used in the amendment with the presentation of Supreme Court opinions on analogous constitutional points was presented to develop the conclusion.

Joint Action Necessary.

"To which Government does the citizen owe his duty to observe the eighteenth amendment?" The report said in presenting conclusions of its signers on the point. "The answer is simple. The state surrendered to the Federal Government the power of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes and simply reserved the power that the enforcement of the amendment in the legislation should be concurrent."

"We cannot 'imagine from the Constitution that concurrent power to enforce its provisions was given to both Congress and the several states. No law would be passed in pursuance to the Constitution which failed to observe this provision. Joint or concurrent legislation is necessary for the enactment of proper enforcement legislation."

The reason for this reservation of state power is plainly apparent from the drastic legislation now attempted to be imposed upon the people and plainly offensive to probably a majority of them. The widest possible latitude is given to the prohibitory section, while in the enforcement sections the states are reduced to subject people."

BILL RESTORING DEATH PENALTY GOES TO GOVERNOR

Senate Passes Measure as Amended by House, 18 to 1, and Special Session of Legislature Adjourns.

HOUSE VOTE, 87-19;
CHANGES NECESSARY

Provisions Re-Enacting Law Stipulating Method of Execution Were Found to Be Essential.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 8.—The last vote was taken on the capital punishment bill today, when the Senate adopted the House amendment and passed the bill for the second time by a vote of 18 to 1. The bill is now ready to be signed by Gov. Gardner.

Both houses formally adjourned at noon, and members will leave for their homes on afternoon trains.

The House of Representatives in a midnight session passed the bill by a vote of 87 to 19, but only after amending it so that it had to be returned to the Senate.

The purpose of the midnight session was to permit members of the Legislature to get away from their homes for the summer. When the bill was called up for passage, amendments were offered which were declared to be necessary to the validity of the bill.

It was found by members of the Senate yesterday that the Whittaker bill, enacted two years ago, repealed by implication all sections of state and district law which it was thought should be administered. These sections were not specifically re-enacted in the new bill as originally drawn and so were substituted by amendment last night.

Sensors Called Back.

As soon as it was found that the amendments would be necessary telegrams were sent to all Senators who had gone home.

The principal debate on the bill came yesterday afternoon. Representative Whittaker, author of the Whittaker law abolishing capital punishment appeared suddenly and assumed leadership of opposition to the May bill.

Whittaker had been building fences and did not intend to come to the Legislature for the ratification of the offensive amendment, but when the capital punishment issue was submitted he dropped fence building and started for the capital.

He made an impassioned appeal for the preservation of the present law yesterday, after the House had voted unanimously to suspend the rules and allow him one hour, instead of the customary five minutes, for his speech.

He concluded by saying: "If you are not willing to vote to send your son to the gallows, you have

Gen. Pershing to Pass Beneath Arc de Triomphe

American to Be First Foreign Commander So Honored—France Prepares for Gala Day July 14.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 8.—The regiment of American soldiers which will follow Gen. Pershing and the members of his staff in the great parade Victory day, July 14, will be worthy companions, both from physical appearance and past performance, for the victors of Verdun, the Marne and the Yser. Flags from all the American divisions which have fought in France will be carried by members of units chosen from those organizations.

The rapidity with which the preparations for the celebration are being made is another proof of the wonderful talent, possessed by the French for improvisation. When the war came the French were not ready, but the great genius they have for meeting an emergency was shown by the prompt mobilization of the army and the holding of the front until the allies could come to the rescue. Victory also caught the French unawares. Six months ago elaborate plans were made for the celebration of the Fourth of July, but the peace conference with its delays of weeks and months, and the average Frenchman doubted if the fete would ever take place, some doubting even victory itself.

Greates Day for Paris.

At two weeks' notice the French were called upon to make arrangements to celebrate what promises to be the greatest day in the history of Paris, which is replete with glorious days.

Gen. Pershing and members of his staff will ride at the head of an American troop. The Commander in Chief of the American Expeditionary Forces will pass under the Arc de Triomphe, leading a composite regiment of American soldiers selected from the units remaining in France.

It will be the first time since the most beautiful arch in the world was erected that a General commanding a foreign army has had such an honor placed upon him. Other American Generals also will take part in the parade.

Not all the citizens of Paris, however, are thinking of July 14 in a disinterested manner as symbolizing glory and triumph. Many are ap-no right to vote to send my son, or other sons to the gallows."

Whittaker opened the fight on the bill by offering a resolution absolving all members from any obligation they might have assumed to vote for it, by signing the petition and voting for the resolutions that were addressed to Gov. Gardner. The members of the Senate, however, considered themselves bound to the governor by those promises, and that they had made up their minds as to their votes on the question before the petition was signed or the resolutions offered.

ST. LOUIS' WEATHER TO BE ADVERTISED

Comparatively Low Temperatures and Humidity to Be Featured in Campaign.

St. Louis summer weather will be featured in the Municipal Advertising Campaign, plans for which are in the hands of the Publicity Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

This city will not be advertised as a summer resort. Cities are not the best summer resort. It is planned to tell people plainly that the rental of a window for two hours would provide homes for indigent families for years. For a single window or balcony seat from $200 to $600 will be paid and the price of a balcony situated midway between the Place de la Concorde and the Arc de Triomphe is advertised at $3000. There are accommodations at that balcony for about 20 persons.

Hotels Raise Rates.

Hotel keepers are raising their prices from 50 to 100 per cent for the week of July 10 to 17, turning out guests of long standing to make room for prospective visitors.

The city of decorations will be the Arc de Triomphe, in its purity with greatest haste, 120 painters and 30 sculptors working in shifts. The city is already bedecked with flags and banners remaining over from peace day and from the Fourth of July celebration.

Three hundred carpenters and a thousand laborers are following in eight-hour shifts, according to the new eight-hour law, in erecting stands along the course where the parade will pass. More than 3000 men are actually at work preparing for the celebration. One monument, however, remains undecorated and without flags. This is the Arc de Triomphe.

Sergt. Hoff, a veteran of the Civil War, of 1870, who has been custodian of the arched gate since 1883, said: "It would be a desecration to hide the glories of these heroes behind decorations," pointing at groups representing the triumph of Napoleon and the Austrian campaign of 1810 and the surrender of Mustapha Pasha to Marshal Murat at the battle of Aboukir. "Let them leave it as it is."

Gen. Pershing will accompany a detachment of 3200 American troops who will go to Paris to take part in the victory celebration there July 14. Col. Conrad S. Babcock will be in immediate command of the troops. The visit of the soldiers to London, may be prolonged until July 26.

AWARD FOR MCCLUNG REVERSED ON APPEAL

Supreme Court Sets Aside $7000
Judgment for Former Warden Against Post-Dispatch.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 8.—The Supreme Court yesterday in an opinion reversed the decision of the Callaway County Circuit Court, in which D. C. McClung, former Warden of the penitentiary, was awarded a verdict of $7000 against the Post-Dispatch, in a suit he sustained the constitutionality of section 1755 of the Revised Statutes of 1909.

Section 1755 provides that suits for libel against corporations may be brought in the county in which the plaintiff resides. The Court held that the section thus discriminates against corporation defendants and individual defendants who must be sued in the county in which they are located.

McClung, who was Warden of the penitentiary, sued the Post-Dispatch for the publication of a letter from a former convict, in which he charged that he had been hung in the state prison for 18 days in an effort by the prison management to make him tell where he got a bottle of whisky.

Admitted Hanging in Rings.

McClung admitted that he had hung Willis in the rings, but said the purpose was to punish the convict for having the whisky in his possession and not for the purpose of wringing a confession from him.

The jury returned a verdict of $20,000, which Circuit Judge Harris held was excessive and a remittitur was entered for $13,000, leaving the verdict at $7000.

Division No. 2 of the Supreme Court voted to reverse the case on the ground that section 1755, under which the suit was filed, was unconstitutional, but Judge Fred T. Williams dissented and the case was transferred to court en banc.

Justice A. M. Woodson did not sit in the case, because of failing health, and J. P. McBain, dean of the College of Law at Missouri University, was called in as a special Judge.

McBain wrote the opinion, which is concurred in by all the Judges. On the jurisdiction question, involving the constitutionality of section 1755, Judges Graves, Walker, and Paris concurred and Judges Bond, Blair and Williams dissented.

Right to Criticize Officials.

In discussing the right of a newspaper to criticize the acts of public officials, Judge McBain said:

"We are of the opinion, upon the merits of the case, that the judgment should have gone for the defendant below. In our opinion, the defense should not have been sent to the jury. There can be no question at this time that the citizens of this State, through newspapers and otherwise, have the right to criticize the official acts of the public officers of this State.

"The rules relating to defamation, where the party alleged to have been defamed is an individual in private, do not apply, because the individual alleged to have been libeled is a public official, and where the alleged libelous matter is as to the conduct of the individual as a public official, viz: Warden of the State penitentiary."

"The important fact," McBain says, "is that the defendant made no substantial misstatement of fact as to what that public official did."

CITY TESTS AUTO LIGHTS FREE

20 Persons Could Have Avoided Fine of $10 to $50.

The 20 persons who were in Police Judge Mix's Court yesterday and were fined amounts ranging from $10 to $50 for having glaring head-lights on their automobiles might have avoided the trouble and expense had they availed themselves of the city's free auto-light testing station at the city hall.

Automobile lights equipped with seals from the city's light-testing bureau are never molested by the police, who accept the seal as a guarantee that the lights comply with the regulations fixed by city ordinance.

There is no charge for the service of testing automobile lights, and the police require that lights must be O.K'd by the officials in charge of the municipal light-testing bureau.

ST. LOUIS MAN BEATEN IN EAST

W. W. Cox of St. Louis, recently elected chairman of the convention of the Workers' International Industrial Union of New York, is believed to have been beaten by a mob at Lancaster, Pa. A dispatch today told of a man of that name being severely beaten while he was addressing a street corner meeting. The man was unknown in Lancaster. He was arrested.

The Workers' International Industrial Union, at the convention over which Cox presided, adopted resolutions conveying greetings to the Russian Soviet Government.

Argentine Ratifies League.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Entrance of Argentina into the League of Nations without reservations has been approved by the Argentine Senate, the State Department was informed in dispatches quoting Buenos Aires newspapers of Saturday. The approval was by a unanimous vote. The action of the Argentine Senate, according to information at the State Department, made that republic the first nation to assent through its treaty-ratifying body to the league of nations' covenant.

DEATH OF FORMER ALTON POLICE CHIEF ACCIDENT, JURY DECIDES

A verdict of accident was returned by the coroner's jury this morning in the death of John Maxwell, former Chief of Police of Alton, from injuries received when an automobile truck in which he and W. A. Smith of West Alton, were riding, was struck by a south-bound Missouri, Kansas & Texas train at Twin Crossing near Alton, at 2:30 p.m. yesterday.

Maxwell was taken on board the train but died before reaching St. Louis. J. E. Evans of New Franklin, Mo., the engineer, testified that the road near the crossing is obscured by high weeds and that it was impossible for the automobile to have been seen until it was 30 feet from the track. The train was going at the rate of 35 miles an hour, he said, and when he first saw the truck he believed that it would not accident. He blew the whistle before reaching the crossing and the automatic bell at the road rang, he stated.

Smith, who was driving the truck, suffered several broken ribs and was burned by water from the radiator.

Everyone is Welcome Every Day During Charter Member Week

Wednesday, July 9 is Checking Account Day

While everyone is welcome every day at the First National Bank, we have set aside Wednesday especially for those who have personal checking accounts here, as well as those who wish to become Charter Members by opening a checking account during their visit to the new bank.

A handsome certificate showing Charter Membership will be sent to each patron of the First National Bank who registers here during Charter Member Week. The register of names will be preserved by the Missouri Historical Society. The Executive Managers, officers and employees will take pleasure in greeting you. Their deep pride in their bank is reflected in a whole-hearted desire to serve.

Program for Charter Member Week:

Thursday, July 10—Savings Depositors' Day
Friday, July 11—Stockholders' Day
Saturday, July 12—County Bankers' and Employees' Day

SCHOOL SURVEYS ARE BEGUN IN BIG STORES

Count of Children Affected by
New Educational Law Started;
Managers Offer Co-operation.

Surveys were begun in the department stores today to determine the exact number of employees who will be affected by the law passed by the last General Assembly, requiring the School Board to maintain a part-time and continuation class, for the purpose of giving special instruction to children between the ages of 11 and 18 who are employed and who have not finished their elementary school courses.

L. W. Fader, director of vocational education in the St. Louis public schools, estimated there are about 1200 children in the four principal department stores who will come within the scope of the new law.

Speculation on the part of store superintendents as to how many of those institutions will be increased by the necessity for employees to leave the stores to attend classes, gives a new aspect to the proposed purchase by the Board of Education of the old Southern Hotel as a continuation class and vocational training school.

Stores Have Own Schools.

In nearly every one of the large department stores educational departments already are being conducted under the supervision of trained teachers employed by the firms.

Store managers have adopted this plan, believing that education increases efficiency in the sales and office organizations appreciably. These managers object to sending their employees to a centrally located school because of the cost involved in loss of time. They offer to furnish their own class rooms as sanitary and up-to-date as any that could be given by the school system, if the Board of Education will furnish the teachers. Some of them have even volunteered to have their present teachers co-operate with those supplied by the board.

As an example of the expenses caused such stores the manager of one large concern, in which 300 children will be affected, pointed out that the firm can furnish class rooms and assistant teachers and conduct the entire work as required by the law for a total cost of $1500 a month, which he thought reasonable considering the added efficiency resulting from the educational classes. However, if it became necessary to dismiss these pupils from their work and send them to an outside school, he estimated the expense to the company would total $6500 a month.

The recent enactment of the Legislature stipulates that those children between the designated age who are employed shall have not less than four hours' school work each week.

Four Teachers in Store.

At the Famous and Barr store four teachers already are employed by the company to give training to employees. A ample classrooms are fitted up and the instructors devote their entire time to the work. An official of the company said today he would be glad to have his teachers work with those of the Board of Education if they can qualify for the sort of teaching required by the board. Otherwise the firm's teachers will continue their work, laying particular emphasis on commercial education.

Department store heads agree on the advantages of the new law. Every one interviewed expressed his enthusiasm over the educational program and his belief of its ultimate benefits to the stores.

"I believe it is one of the greatest movements that has been launched during the last year," said M. L. Wilkinson, president of the Scruggs-Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Co. "Although we have no definite plans made for complying with the requirements of the new law we propose to give every assistance possible to the school officials to promote the plan. It is to our interest to do it."

"It means not only additional opportunities to us for improving our organization, but also an added opportunity for the employees to advance themselves. It will mean bigger, better things to the commercial and industrial life of the city and State."

The law becomes effective Sept. 1. The Board of Education is hurrying plans to take care of the new work. More preparation will be needed in St. Louis than in any city of the State.

HER ENGAGEMENT
HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED

"Reduce Your Weight
a Pound a Day"

"Not impossible," says a physician in a recent interview.

Not enough oxygen in the system and poor assimilation are generally the causes of superfluous flesh. Too little of the food you eat is being made into good, hard tissue, and too much into fat, or bubbles of fat. This causes an excess of fat; sometimes all over the body or around the hips, over the bust or under the chin only.

One of the best methods for treating excess weight is always breathing deeply and to take a few deep breaths after each meal and at bedtime. Remarkable results are generally secured by the use of this method. You should lose these simple directions over a few days, then should you wish a more methodical diet, this exercise, which is very weakening, disappears, you should resume breathing rapidly, and your skin should take on a new tint and firmness with no flabbiness or sagging.

To lose weight rapidly at first, the following is good:

Co. Wolff-Wilson, A. E. Mueller, Judge & Dohle, Keffler Drug Co. or almost any good drug store.

Reducing your weight is so easy and pleasant that not even your most intimate friends need know about it. Make a note and remark on your loss of weight.

Physical exercise is not expensive and fresh air is free. The treatment is real economy.

One of the best methods for treating excess weight is always breathing deeply and to take a few deep breaths after each meal and at bedtime. Remarkable results are generally secured by the use of this method. You should lose these simple directions over a few days, then should you wish a more methodical diet, this exercise, which is very weakening, disappears, you should resume breathing rapidly, and your skin should take on a new tint and firmness with no flabbiness or sagging.

To lose weight rapidly at first, the following is good:

Co. Wolff-Wilson, A. E. Mueller, Judge & Dohle, Keffler Drug Co. or almost any good drug store.

Reducing your weight is so easy and pleasant that not even your most intimate friends need know about it. Make a note and remark on your loss of weight.

Physical exercise is not expensive and fresh air is free. The treatment is real economy.

Here's the Reason for Selling These Tyres at Such Ridiculous Prices

The Ten Broeck Tyre Company, the largest tyre manufacturers south of the Mason-Dixon line, have discontinued the making of 3500-mile guaranteed tyres.

The company was taken over some nine or ten months ago by the present organization and they have come to the conclusion that they want to build a tyre, guaranteed 7500 miles. Of course, the price of tyres with such a mileage guarantee is anywhere from 150% to 200% greater than the ridiculous prices we are quoting to close out these 3500-mile tyres, which carry the guarantee of the Ten Broeck Tyre Co., against defects in either workmanship or material.

The company is a $500,000.00 corporation and you can feel assured in buying any of these tyres at the unprecedented prices quoted that the company is behind the guarantee.

These tyres are FIRSTS, guaranteed for 3500 miles.

In their process of manufacture, they have undergone eight inspections. Each inspector is a trained expert, efficiently schooled for his respective position.

The Ten Broeck Tyre Company has its own textile mill for spinning and weaving fabric used in these tyres, and this fabric is far superior to any fabric used in most any other tyre, guaranteed anywhere from 3500 to 6000.

When you buy one of these Ten Broeck Tyres at the prices quoted, you save more money per mile than on any other tyre sold on the market.

We fully investigated all of these facts before we even considered taking on such a proposition, and feel assured that the automobileists of St. Louis will appreciate this wonderful offering.

All Tyres Sold for Cash

These tyres will be sold for cash only, but we will stand the 5% Government tax.

In ordering tyres by mail, be sure to specify the size, and whether Qd, Straight Side or Clincher bead. Orders received by mail must have check accompanying same and will be shipped "express collect."

No delivery will be made in the city of St. Louis, as our margin of profit is so small that it would be impossible for us to give any service, excepting the installation of your tyres at our store.

We will be open from 7 A. M. until 11 P. M.

There is no doubt that this will be a quick sale and we advise all car owners to come early.

This is a straight-forward proposition with no strings tied.

Tyres can be examined and are absolutely guaranteed 3500 miles, and in most cases, will render mileage far beyond their guarantee.

Tyre prices are undoubtedly going up within a short time, and car owners will do well to anticipate their future needs.

DEMOCRATS HOPE FOR WORD FROM WILSON ON 1920

Plans for Campaign Wait on Announcement Regarding President's Intentions as to Third Term.

REVENUE LAW KEEPS DOWN SOME BOOMS

President's Salary Virtually Cut to $49,000 by Provisions Making It Subject to Income Tax.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright, 1919, by the Pulitzer Pub. Co.
WASHINGTON, July 8.—Many are the declarations and statements and informative documents which appear in the league of nations papers concerning the league's expectations to hear from President Wilson, but what interests Democrats in the national capital is whether or not the President plans to run for a third term. To them the league fight is a one-sided affair with the Republicans alone to be won over, as the Democrats are solidly behind the league. But the Democrats, just as much as the Republicans, are anxious to get ready for 1920 and want to rally behind candidates and get in on the ground floor.

Fortunately, there is no dearth of candidates. One morning newspaper here today gave the impression that the presidential job might go a-begging because of the last revenue law. By making the President's salary subject to the income tax, it had virtually been cut from $75,000 to $49,000. It was to be $50,000 when Mr. Roosevelt was in office and was increased just before Mr. Taft was inaugurated. The increase grew out of the high cost of presidential living, which includes the maintenance of the White House and entertainment of guests, domestic and foreign, and a desire to keep a President free from financial embarrassments that might affect his viewpoint toward individuals from whom he might otherwise be compelled to borrow.

Some Aspirations Affected.

It is whispered that the reduction of the President's salary by means of the heavy income tax is affected adversely men on Capitol Hill who hitherto have been considered potential candidates for the presidency. It has become the fashion in Washington anyway for Cabinet officers and others whose salaries have ranged all the way from $12,000 to a single dollar a year to quit their jobs because they couldn't afford to live on such income, but rarely has anybody declined an appointment that might affect his nomination for the presidency. invariably they have spoken of the large expense of keeping up the White House and conducting themselves as befits a President of a great country.

Other Senators who are not accustomed to thinking in financial terms and to whom the high cost of presidential living is a matter of no concern, have been cruel enough to suggest that it is a case of sour grapes with their colleagues. Even before the argument arose, however, another group of Senators interested in replenishing their own pockets by a good bit now and then began waging large sums of money that not long ago either the Senate or House would have voted to accept the presidency next time on any ticket. And that's the status of things in the congressional cloakrooms. There are enough would-be candidates, but none of them is believed by their fellow Senators and Representatives to have a chance.

Most of the betting and gossiping concerns the Republican presidential possibilities for up to now the Democrats have been the ones about talking known where President Wilson stood in the matter. That's why an expression from him would relieve the Democratic politicians of much worry. Of course, if Mr. Wilson wants to run, his hold on the Democratic party is such that no other Democrat in or out of Congress would care to make a contest for the nomination. But if, as seems most likely, Mr. Wilson should make it clear that he does not intend to run, the announcements of candidates will not be long delayed.

Argument for Announcement.

Aside, however, from the personal aspects of the Democratic presidential situation, there are friends of the league of nations who think it would be wise for Mr. Wilson to make it absolutely plain by specific announcement that he has no ambition to succeed himself. Then, in his reception on the forthcoming western trip will partake of less partisan and personal politics if the President will announce that he is through with presidential politics and interested only in laying the foundations for a lasting peace.

There is evidence that arguments will be had in the West as to Mr. Wilson's attention and that some expression direct or indirect may shortly be expected which will show the country that his sole purpose in stamping the country is to bring public opinion to bear on the American Senate for the benefit of the peace treaty and league of nations.

Girlish, Wrinkle-Free Skin Easy to Have

Since its remarkable astringent and tonic properties became known, clever women have been using the easiest face bath to "long up" their faces, remove wrinkles and drawably cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the solution, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens all over the face, thus reducing lines and sagging. The formula is powdered soap, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint.

This simple and harmless face bath is a splendid thing for the girlish face and wrinkles and fine lines are so protective of squinting and other contractions which cause wrinkles and crow's feet. Also, it is free from a hot, depressing after-taste.

PROHIBITS BOARDING HOUSE AT 5428 MAPLE

Department of Public Safety Upholds Protest Against Proposed Violation of Zone Law.

There will be no boarding house at 5428 Maple Avenue, the Board of Public Service decided today, and Mrs. Daisy Parker Smith, who desired to offer meals and lodging at that address, may continue to do so at 5275 Maple, as at present, or else move to some other address. The reasons are not so severe.

She had signified her desire to move, and sought the consent of the board, a proceeding which resulted in plain speaking by Mrs. Smith, her boarders and Director of Public Safety McElveen on one side, and City Plan Commission Engineer Bartholomew and other neighbors on the opposite side. Bartholomew took part in the conference, but officially and individually, as he lives in the same block with Mrs. Smith.

During the public hearing on the question last Wednesday, statements were made by neighbors that Mrs. Smith's lodgers sometimes neglected to draw the shades while engaged in making their respective toilets, a charge which was denied back by the boarders, who alleged that in the matter of drawing the shade in the wrong time, the neighbors were well up in the running.

It is true that the house Mrs. Smith now occupies is in the "first residence district" under the zone law, and the house she desired to occupy is in the "second district," but she was where she is before the law was passed, and had the right to stay there. In order to move, however, the unanimous consent of the board was necessary.

McElveen adopted a sympathetic attitude toward Mrs. Smith's proposed move. He said he did not want to see persons who by force of circumstances had to board, debarred from desirable residence districts. He said Bartholomew was entirely too technical about the matter.

Bartholomew said that a law was a law, and he didn't propose to see it violated, particularly when the violation would work property depreciation against other people. He estimated the presence of a boarding house in the block would deprecate the total value of the property by $5,000.

YOUNG WOMAN ASKS POLICE
TO FIND SAILOR-HUSBAND

Says He Told Her in March He Was Going Out as Salesman, and Hasn't returned.

Mrs. Eugenia McCaffery, a bride of a little over a year, living with her parents at 3505 Manhattan Avenue, Maplewood, yesterday appealed to police to find her sailor-husband, Hugh McCaffery, 22 years old, who disappeared March 18.

The couple were married May 22, 1918, on the eve of the bridegroom's departure for the Great Lakes Training Camp. He came back in January and went to work for a shoe company, the wife said.

On the morning of March 18 he kissed his wife good-by.

"I've been married," he told her. "I'm going on the road as a salesman, and I'll make our home in Columbia, Mo. I'll send for you when I get settled."

She has not heard from him since. Investigation at the office of the firm revealed that he had resigned on the morning he disappeared.

Mrs. McCaffery said yesterday she believed her husband was in the city still because a relative had declared he had seen McCaffery at a ball game recently. McCaffery ran for the exit gate and disappeared, the relative reported.

'HITCH IN SIDE' IS 9 BROKEN RIBS

Thomas Morgan, 54 years old, of 911A Market street walked into the city dispensary last night and asked doctors to take a look at his side. "I've got a hitch there and it's making me nervous," he told the doctors.

They found he had nine fractured ribs and internal hurts and ordered him to the hospital.

"A wagon ran over me in East St. Louis last Saturday," Morgan said, "but I didn't pay any attention to a little thing like that. Today my side got to hurting me considerably and I thought I had a little touch of rheumatism and thought I'd get fixed up."

22 CENTS TO BE MINIMUM WAGE

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 8.—A minimum wage of 22 cents an hour for all female or experienced minor employees over 17 years old in the State has been ordered by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin, under date of June 27. It was announced today.

The commission also divides female and minor employees into distinct wage-earning classes, whose minimum wage is as follows: Minor employees under 16 years of age, 18 cents per hour; between 16 and 17 years, 20 cents per hour; beginners, first three months, 18 cents per hour; second three months, 20 cents per hour.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

POLICE SERGEANT'S WIFE GETS DIVORCE, CHILDREN, ALIMONY

Mrs. Katherine C. Stephanmeier is Given $5000 in Suit for Separation.

A divorce, custody of four daughters and $5000 alimony was granted yesterday to Mrs. Katherine C. Stephanmeier, 2300 Grand Avenue, from John H. Stephanmeier, a Sergeant of Police, attached to the Ninth District, by Circuit Judge Falkenhainer, who dismissed Stephanmeier's crossbill. The husband, it was stated by the plaintiff, recently inherited realty valued at $15,000. She charged that he drank to excess and was a bad husband.

Stephanmeier admitted that he drank beer and highballs occasionally while off duty but denied that he ever was drunk. He pronounced his wife "a dandy little housekeeper except when we were having battles." As to himself, he declared there was not a better husband in the city for devotions only.

They were married in 1901 and separated June 4 last. They lived at 1901 Hodiamont avenue.

Police Captain Seth Singleton was a character witness for the defendant.

MODIFICATION OF BUILDING ZONE LAW DISCUSSED BY OFFICIALS

Removal of Restrictions on Construction Work is Favored by Director of Public Safety.

The Board of Public Service today discussed with the City Plan Commission proposed changes in the zone law to eliminate hardships on owners of proposed buildings, and to change restricting clauses which, in the opinion of Director of Public Safety, McKey, are preventing building construction in St. Louis.

Because the zone law restrictions forbid, the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co. was refused a permit to erect three additional stories on the southwest portion of the Grand-Leader building, to make the structure conform in height.

The estimated cost of the proposed addition would be $30,000 and would give an additional three floors of space to the Grand-Leader on its northwestern section at Seventh street and Washington avenue. The height of the remainder of the building is 167 feet. The zone law restrictions limit height of new building construction in the neighborhood of the Grand-Leader to 150 feet.

President Kinsey of the Service Board said there would favor amendment of the law so that it would authorize the Service Board to issue permits for such buildings in the downtown district, according to the conditions governing each case.

D. R. CALHOUN BUYS HOME SITE ON CLAYTON ROAD

David R. Calhoun, president of the Ely & Walker Dry Goods Co., has purchased 4.27 acres of land on the south side of the Clayton road, at its intersection with Log Cabin Lane, in St. Louis, four miles west of the city, and will build a home there immediately. The plans for the residence, he said today, had not reached a stage warranting discussion or publication. The tract was negotiated by the real estate department of the Merchantile Trust Co.

The tract, formerly known as the "Ten-Mile House," belonged to the heirs of David Flink of St. Louis County, who 25 years ago conducted a general store and tavern in a two-story brick building.

The building will be removed to make way for the Calhoun residence. The Flink heirs, five sons and six daughters, live in the vicinity of the house, reside in St. Louis County. One of the sons, George Flink, resides at Twenty-first and Madison streets, in St. Louis, and another son lives in California. One of the daughters, Mrs. Anna Flink Groff, is the wife of John Groff, who is in charge of the Log Cabin Club grounds.

"THE MIKADO" BEST OF OPEN-AIR OPERAS

For First Time Cast Is Adequately Utilized, Four Roles Proving Distinctive.

To admirers of the debonair
tunefulness of Sir Arthur Sullivan and the pungent wit of W. S. Gilbert may be recommended with few reservations the production of their masterpiece, "The Mikado," this week at the Municipal Theater. The presentation of the classic nature upon the lawns of the Municipal Festival Grounds, as reflected in the droll and singular mischances that befall the town of Titipu, is in every particular the best that the open-air season has as yet offered.

As a work in itself, "The Mikado" outranks "Robin Hood" and "The Bohemian Girl," while "El Capitan" lags far in the rear. For the first time, moreover, the cast of principals is particularly good, Frank Moulau, in particular, finding an initial outlet for his gifts as a comedian.
It is an opera with which the leading performers are familiar of old time and in which they are completely at ease; there could be no such desperate wrestling with half-memorized text as William Danforth exhibited in "El Capitan" last week.
Finally, it less than four of the nine roles are successes of character, which is difficult to better with the comic opera timber at present available. The result at last night's opening performance, was an entertainment which abounded in relish from start to end, and sped on its way with unflagging verve.

For Moulau, prancing about the stage with impish agility in the part of the headstrong, hirsute, and vain of Lord High Executioner, came the triumph of twice forcing a suspension of the no-encore rule. The first was with the ditty concerning the offenders whom the headman has on his list and who never will be missed; the comedian was recalled five times, returning on each occasion with good and up-to-date versions of his song. The second did violence to Gilbert's topical songs, many of the references in which are today obsolete. The second encores were won by the air, "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," to which Moulau added versions in Scotch and Irish dialects.

The Funniness of Moulau.

Nothing funnier has recently been heard here than his rendition of the petulant lyrics of the little tom-tit who, his affection blighted, sobbed and sighed and threw himself into the billowy wave—the tragedy with which Ko-Ko seeks to wring some twinges of compassion from the ancient and ferocious heart of Katisha.

William Danforth's portrayal of the Mikado is a genuine creation which would lay a permanent remark on the art. Here we saw beaming and sparkling an affable one, blandly sanguine; a wharibite of the death rattles of others, doting toothlessly upon the swish of the snickersnee and upon the squirms and gurgles, the shivers and shrieks of the criminal at the block.

Charles E. Gallagher likewise offered a version of Pooh-Bah which was weighty, indeed, bringing the proper stature and bearing, and real intelligence and humor to the role of the haughty, pompous and rapacious village nabob. Similarly admirable was the Katisha of Mildred Rogers, who was in her element as the tough and savage virago.

Other Roles Well Taken.
While these were the outstanding roles, the others were competently done, notably the part of a dainty, toy-like hero as Nanki-Poo, done
excellently; Blanch Duffield, as Yum-Yum, is scarcely lissome enough for a little maid from school, but was girlish enough in manner if not in appearance; her singing was as usual pleasing. Carl Grantvoort served well enough as Pish-Tush, and saucy Carolyn Andrews would have been delicious as Pitti-Sing if it were not for her remarkably bland voice. Eileen Spelman was the Peep-Bo.

Once more the company's scene-maker confined his efforts to settings which would have served as well in an interior theater, although both acts of the opera occur out of doors. The proscenium was limited to the dimensions of the wooden stage and the natural advantages of the site were reduced to mere incidents. This is ignoring the peculiar genius of the theater. But the setting for the second act was striking, with its pagodas, strings of Japanese lanterns, and in the rear a gigantic figure of Buddha. It stirred a reminiscence, though feeble one, of the Bakst settings for the Russian Ballet.

The chorus has dwindled to about 60 from the 160 of the first week's production, but its singing was spirited and confident. Its costumes were still a bit ragged last night.
The orchestra's work was admirable,
and the costumes were picture-que. The audience, as for some reason seems customary on opening nights, was small. It gave every sign of de-lighting in the performance.

BLOOD IS YOUR LIFE; YOU MUST KEEP IT PURE

All Impurities Must Be Eliminated

When the blood becomes foul from the presence of poisonous substances, which the body is unable to remove, it can no longer supply the nerves, brain and muscle with nourishment and strength. The result is that you are miserable, half sick and feel tired all the time.

If you will cleanse the blood of all impurities, you will find that your work will be a pleasure, you will eat and sleep well and enjoy good health. One of the best blood cleaners or purifiers known today is the prescription of a successful physician. If used for years in his practice for the treatment of disorders of the blood.

You can still get this same splendid prescription, ready prepared, from your druggist. Just call for Prescription C-2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn., and will mail you a $1.50 sample.

Prescription C-2223 contains no mercury, opium, morphine, chloral or strichnine. While sold in concentrated form, and is to be taken in small doses, its use will not harm the most delicate stomach. Write for literature—C-2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoons will make an abundance of rich creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and expensive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves it fine and silky, light, fluffy and easy to manage.

It is easy to get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—ADV.

The children of Webster Groves, Mo., have been working hard to help half of the babies of St. Louis. Eleven children residing on Joy avenue, Webster Groves, gave a play Wednesday evening, July 2, for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Milk and Ice Fund, and made $5.20. Those participating were: Anne Drew Kauffman, Katherine Harding, Katherine and Lee Stratford Lee Morton, Jr., William T. Moore, Hilda and Harry Swift, Jane and Lorraine Booth and Jerome and Walter Fritsch.

Three cash donations were received among yesterday's contributions to the fund. Paul Hartman, 5815 De Giverville avenue, sent $1 "hoping that it might be of some help to the babies." Charlotte Steinmann, 1264 Railway Exchange building, sent $1 and Miss Myra Tinkham, 5363 North Market street, gave $2.

ENTERTAINMENTS ON SCHEDULE FOR MILK AND ICE FUND

The following entertainments have been arranged for the benefit of the Milk and Ice Fund:

Tuesday and Wednesday, July 8 and 9—Show 8 p. m. at 5357 Garfield avenue, followed by refreshments.

Wednesday, July 9—Entertainment, 8 p. m., at 5779 Waterman avenue.

Thursday, July 10—Mrs. Karl Klemel will sing afternoon and evening, between regular vaudeville acts at Forest Park Highlands.

POLICE ARREST WOMAN AND NINE MEN AT CARNIVAL AS GAMBLERS

Rookie at Police School Reports
Most of Patrons Are Children
Less Than 10 Years Old.

A few nights ago some promoters rigged up a merry-go-round on a vacant lot at Flinney and Pendleton avenues, surrounded by tiny booths and called the outfit a carnival. Last night the police gambling squad raided the "carnival," arrested the "concessionaires" and confiscated everything but the merry-go-round. A woman and nine men were taken to the Deer Street Police Station.

The cause of the raid was a report by Probationary Patrolman John P. Kelly, a "rookie," in the police school of instruction, that in the two nights he had been working there he had won $1.70 at the "carnival" and had won 5-cent sticks and three 5-cent packages of candy. He reported that with the exception of the merry-go-round every "concession" on the lot was a gambling game and that the chief customers were children less than 10 years old.

The games confiscated last night included nine sets of what is known in carnival circles as "add-a-ball," a punch board, two chip games, a clothsline game, a spinning wheel and a hoop game. The police say the children of the neighborhood were spending their dimes and nickels freely in the hope of winning prizes.

Those arrested gave their names as Mrs. Emma Linn, 48 years old, 2349 South Tenth street, who, the police say, was running one of the chip games; her husband, Edward Linn; Frank H. Layman, 3827 Shaw avenue; Philip Koy, who said that he had no regular place of address, but "just followed the carnival"; John Daniels, 2107 College avenue; Edward Baker, 4617 Tennessee avenue; Charles Rosen, 1515 South Eleventh street; William Lynch, 3928 North Eleventh street, and Hector Trimbley, 4418 Enright avenue. All were booked for Police Court on charges of conducting gambling games.

MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES' PICNIC

Games and Races at Grove Arranged for July 19.

The Municipal Employees' Union will hold its first annual picnic July 19, at Wallner's Grove, 5300 Gravois avenue, the arrangements committee announced yesterday. The organization has about 1000 members, composed of clerks employed by the city, according to E. G. Marsh, secretary of the Complaints Board.

A talking machine valued at $100 will be given to the first person who points out the "mystery man" who will appear at the picnic grounds at 6 o'clock. Games and races will take place in the afternoon and dancing and entertainment have been provided for the evening. City officials and labor leaders have been invited to attend and make speeches.

RAIL-RIVER RATES WILL BE READY BY END OF NEXT WEEK

Director of Traffic of Federal Administration to Announce What Schedules Will Be Granted.

WIDER TERRITORY OPEN TO ST. LOUIS

Promise Given That Joint Tariffs Will Be in Effect by Time Equipment Is Completed.

The request that the Government River Service upon the Mississippi should be extended, by its co-ordination with railroads, to enable St. Louis shippers to ship by water to various river points, thence by rail into inland territory adjoining the river, brought response yesterday from Edward Chipman, Commissioner of traffic of the railroads. Administration, by the end of next week he hopes to announce just what river and rail rates will be granted. He added that the amendments will be effective before the new fleet for the river is in commission.

The importance to St. Louis of such rates is twofold: First, they are expected to reduce the cost of carriage of the new fleet of six tow-boats and 40 barges, a condition necessary for the financial success of the service; second, through the cheapness of the water haul, the trade territory of St. Louis will be extended to the point from which this city now is excluded by high rail freight charges.

Thirteen river and rail schedules have been applied for. As affecting St. Louis the more important are by river to Vicksburg, thence into North Texas, by river to New Orleans, thence into South Texas, and by river to Memphis, thence into Oklahoma, Mississippi, Alabama and other southern states. Permit St. Louis to reach Southern Arkansas, including Little Rock and Fort Smith. The saving on each 100 pounds on first-class freight which these tariffs would effect would range from 16 to 22 cents.

Chamber statement does not assert that all the rates will be granted, but in letter to W. C. Coyle, traffic commissioner, the chamber of commerce, he says that there are "reasonable" to apply in connection with the river will be in force shortly.

Then Thomas wrote again to the City Counselor telling him that Article 10, Section 2, City Charter, provided that the City Council shall represent the city in all legal proceedings, and that it was not the duty of the Supply Commissioner to see the Circuit Attorney about the matter in hand.

Daves then wrote a letter to Thomas stating that if the Supply Commissioner believed there was collusion in the bids of the four companies it was his duty to take the matter up with the Circuit Attorney.

Then Thomas wrote again to the City Counselor telling him that Article 10, Section 2, City Charter, provided that the City Council shall represent the city in all legal proceedings, and that it was not the duty of the Supply Commissioner to see the Circuit Attorney about the matter in hand.

Daves has not yet replied to Thomas' second letter and no action has been taken in regard to the similarity of the lumber companies' bids on yellow pine.

GIRL BRIDE WINS ANNULMENT

Miss Violet Reitz Langhein, 15 years old, 5200 Maple avenue, yesterday obtained an order from Circuit Judge Landwehr annulling her marriage to Carl G. Langhein, 31 years old.

They were married at Clayton, May 28, last, and lived together at the Washington Hotel until June 29, when Mrs. Langhein returned to her mother's home.

She said she had been in Langhein's company only four times before she married him and that she had no intention of becoming his wife. She said she had been married to Edward F. and Frank H. Schmitz, dear brother of Mrs. Henry Daude, and our dear mother, Mrs. Langhein, and our great-grandmother, at the age of 73 years.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATE FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Who Was to Blame?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I wish to protest against the inefficient service rendered by the Frisco and Missouri Pacific Railroads in serving the people of St. Louis. It was apparent to me that the Frisco had failed to reach Valley Park on July 4 by the failure of these roads to provide proper train service, that the people are to be irritated until they become disgusted with the theory or practicality of Government control. It is not the fault of the Government, but of the operating heads of the railroads from the ticket seller up, whose conduct in this case is, "We can't help it; you know the Government is running the railroads now."

It is a well-known fact, and a matter well within the knowledge of the railroads, that the Meramec River, from the Highlands to Valley Park, is to St. Louis what Coney Island is to New York. Thousands of St. Louisians take advantage of Sundays and evenings to go to the Meramec in the vicinity of Valley Park, to enjoy bathing, canoeing, camping and other kindred sports. To reach Valley Park, you must take the Frisco or the Missouri Pacific, should you not be fortunate enough to own an automobile. There are still a few of the common people left, which are quite willing to leave the railroads that the railroads are to blame.

There was a panic and a riot at the Frisco and Missouri Pacific stations between 7 and 8 o'clock July 4. Hundreds of families had left St. Louis over the Frisco for Valley Park and the vicinity in the morning expecting to return on the 8 o'clock train over the Frisco from Valley Park. Many were taken back on the 8 o'clock train, while others took it for granted that proper train service would be rendered by reason of it being a national holiday. And they had a right to expect the railroads to take care of the pleasure seekers from a metropolis like St. Louis. It is a reflection on St. Louis and an outrage to allow the railroads to bottle us up on this side of the river, too.

The Frisco has no trains out of Valley Park to St. Louis after 5:30 p.m. and no information could be had whether they would run a special. A thousand waiting people were in a quandary. Hundreds started to walk the railroad tracks to the Highlands. Others made arrangements to stay over night. It was rumored that the Missouri Pacific would run special at 9:30 p.m. By 9 o'clock fully 1500 people were waiting; many mothers with babies in arms, besides numberless tired children. And then the Missouri Pacific special came along about 9:45, made up mostly of old terminal coaches and not a light in them, and black as pitch. Tickets were collected by lantern light. Dennis Willard had nothing on the right to get on the first and last and only train bound for St. Louis. Men as well as women fainted.

The foregoing is what the people of St. Louis are putting up with, not one day in the year, but many days. How long is it going to last? When is St. Louis going to be allowed to grow and expand as it should? Is this very "poco-her-de-mere" attitude on the part of our quasi-public corporations in a manner that hurts not only St. Louis, but other cities as well. It creates social unrest. The newspapers should take up the fight in behalf of St. Louis and its people, and make a vigorous protest against this growing indifference to the rights of the people.

RALEIGH MCKORMICK.

The League of Nations' Home.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As there are many sound and sufficient reasons against the location of the League of Nations' Home in America, I would urge seriously that the council be located at Dublin, instead. Geneva is the very home of every radical, revolutionary and destructive doctrine; while at the same time it is the haven for all tarnished and discredited royalty. In such an atmosphere, ringed in by jealous, treacherous states, the council would be seriously disturbed by the shadow of the aging and the whispering and plotting of reactionaries.

The editor of the Saturday Evening Post would place the council at Bermuda, but the adoption of my plan would accomplish more than the securing of a proper environment; it would settle the eternal Irish question. I would suggest to this end that Ireland be set aside, as a sort of international "District of Columbia," under the jurisdiction of the supreme council of the league, sitting in Dublin.

For the purposes of the league this section would be most satisfactory, accessible to all without crossing alien territory; in a pleasant country among a people whose every thought and hope are identical with the objects of the league; where tranquill and sober deliberation would not be disturbed.

To the Irish, it would seem, the plan should be most acceptable. No longer the "Home of Nations" but the mother of all, the very sanctuaries of liberty to which would turn the troubled nations for peace, justice and reconciliation.

A glorious future to eclipse centuries of wrong.

RIGHTS OF THE PRESS.

In its adverse decision in the McClung libel suit against the Post-Dispatch, the State Supreme Court reaffirmed and emphasized the right of newspapers for the public welfare to print facts concerning public officers and candidates for office and comment freely on the facts. The only limitation of newspaper comment is that it shall be based upon truth and shall be prompted by the motive of public service.

The suit was based upon the publication of a letter written by a convict, stating facts concerning the brutal treatment of a prisoner and disclosing conditions within the State Penitentiary which subsequently were verified. It was the basis of a campaign against State prison conditions which resulted in the exposure of intolerable evils and the inauguration of radical reforms. The public service of the newspaper in the publication of the facts was conspicuous and substantial. The court recognized the motive of the newspaper and the service it performed.

The decision emphasizes the principles governing the printing of facts and legitimate comment concerning public men which were defined in the decision of the Walsh libel suit against the Post-Dispatch and in the Cook libel suit. The decision in the McClung case says:

There can be no question at the time that the citizens of this country, in newspapers and otherwise, have the right to criticize the official acts of the public officers of this State. * * *

The right to comment on matters of public interest means the right to express opinions as to the acts of a public officer, and to draw inferences as to his motives, whether such opinions or inferences are right or wrong, reasonable or unreasonable, provided they are made in good faith and based upon the truth.

In the case of Sam B. Cook the court was even more emphatic with regard to the right and duty of newspapers to discuss the acts of public officers. It said:

It is the duty of a public newspaper such as is owned and conducted by these defendants, to tell the people, its subscribers, its readers, the facts it may find out about public questions or matters of public interest, and it is the duty and right to draw a inference from the facts known to them for the people. * * * The people are not obliged to speak of the conduct of their officials in whispers or in hushed breath in a free government, but only in a despotism. On the contrary, they have a right to speak out in open discussion and criticism thereof, the only test being that they make no false statement. And this is the great safeguard of free government and of pure government * * * It is known that the criticism of the press was the heat security for the proper discharge of public duties.

In the Walsh case, referring to comment on a candidate for office, the court remarked that "it is the right and duty of a newspaper to discuss his fitness for the place he seeks in such manners as to present the full facts to the electors, either by contrast or comparison with other candidates or by an analysis of his individual qualifications."

In the McClung decision the court wiped out the final remnant of discrimination against newspaper corporations in the matter of the place where they may be sued. It declared the law permitting libel suits against such corporations to be brought in the plaintiff's county unconstitutional, and declared that suits must be brought in the county where the newspaper corporation is located.

By this series of decisions in libel suits arising from the bold and fearless comment of the Post-Dispatch on the fitness of candidates for office and the conduct of public officers, the Supreme Court of the State has set up a magna charta for the State newspapers. The press of Missouri is free. Its sole limitations in discussing public questions are the truth and a sincere motive of public service.

THE ITALIAN FOOD RIOTS.

The Italian method of dealing with the exactions of food profiteers is not to be commended. Aroused to indignation by the prohibitory prices, an Italian mob sacks a city's stores, sends some of the plunder to the labor headquarters, takes some for immediate use and incidentally destroys the store fittings, smashes the windows and wastes vast quantities of valuable necessities by throwing them into the streets.

After that, prices, of course, must come down temporarily. But in the long run, the effect must be disastrous. Trade will be stopped, capital cease operation, the criminal element encouraged and the producer and distributor hampered by fear of further ruin.

And if the political radical element rises into power as the result of such methods, the next step is for the starving cities to "requisition" food from the country producers, who refuse to send in their produce under such conditions. Then anarchy and chaos, as in Russia and Hungary.

AMERICA IN THE AIR.

A fact pointed out by the Post-Dispatch Monday, in discussing the R-34's successful voyage, is worthy of serious public attention, and that is that two of the recent triumphs in air navigation have been scored by the British.

America, of course, joins with the rest of the world in sincerely congratulating the British on their enterprise and gallantry. We should be sadly lacking in sportsmanship not to do so. But it is not sportsmanship for us to acquiesce in the permanent aerial supremacy of Great Britain or any other nation and to withdraw from that new and captivating field of human endeavor, or be content with playing a merely perfunctory, trailing part. Such a course would be stodgy inertia and make an utterly un-American as could be imagined.

But that is the course to which we shall be condemned unless Congress wakes up and provides the necessary money to keep America in the race. The original niggardly House allowance of $15,000,000 to the navy for aircraft expenditure has been substantially increased in the Senate, but it is still less than a third of the $20,000,000 which Great Britain has arranged to spend during the coming year in aircraft building and less than half of the provision made by France. And unless we change our European neighbors the year 1920 will find us congratulating England and France on newer, bigger achievements.

The inventor of the airplane, our failure to maintain leadership in its development, was the subject of much caustic comment upon our entrance into the world war. There is little, if any, difference of opinion, either, as to our air service being the big disappointment of our war program. Where the fault lies for the backwardness in this great science need not be considered here, though it is pertinent to remark that the Wright brothers, after the common experience of prophets, found a welcome and an appreciation in France which was not accorded them in their own land. But that is ancient history now. It may be recalled only as an admonition that it should not be repeated. We must enter this aerial competition wholeheartedly. The greatest airships should be made in America. Congress should vote the necessary money.

SOME DAY WE MAY RISE HIGHER.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

COMMITTED ALREADY.

From the New York World.

If the Borahites, Hirsh Johnsons and League of nations are shrinking that "Our American boys must not be sent to the ends of the earth to fight other people's battles," will pardon the interruption, we should say that is precisely what we have been engaged to do in several instances. Their statement that we are to be ordered about by foreign nations is, of course, not true.

These flaming evangelists of a cloistered life for the great republic are powerful champions of the Monroe Doctrine, which they are afraid we are on the point of abandoning. Yet, the Monroe Doctrine, embodied in no treaty and embraced by no law, is a standing notice that our boys will be sent to fight for it whenever it may be violated. It has been interpreted in many ways, but from the date of 1823 to the present there has never been a time when, if monarchs had undertaken to subvert democracy on this hemisphere, our armies would not have been in operation anywhere from the Rio Grande to Cape Horn and in the very heart of the Amazon.

ENOS A. MILLS.

MUST WE HIBERNATE?

About all that science has made of hibernation is that it becomes with certain creatures a necessity, and they adopt it as a means of protection, living in the mountains, where winter deprives them of the vegetation upon which they subsist, who starve except for hibernating for several months. It has been proven that a bear taken out of the environment which inflicts this necessity upon him does not necessarily hibernate. Many bears in zoos give up the habit after a few years, particularly all winter.

We hope the people who are lifting the cost of food much beyond our reach will read this and apply it to our own approaching necessity. We do not have to eat the entire year. We can hibernate, if driven to it. There is nothing about bears to render them peculiarly liable to do this. Scientists all deny that they have such an advantage. They merely found this food short off and said: "All right, we will crawl into holes and sleep until the food returns."

Which is exactly what they do. It is also what other animals do. Man is an animal. If, as Mr. Henry says, the packers are stronger than the Government and the Government cannot do anything about the price of meat for being weaker than the packers, we have always had the resource of hibernating.

We can simply close the house, crawl into bed and sleep through the winter, subsisting upon such fat as we have about us.

It has been ascertained that this is something entirely different from the suspended animation of the Hindu fakirs. Bears are only half asleep. People who have gone in after them to see if they are asleep in winter have come out, when they have come out at all, to report them on guard. They sleep one eye at a time. The packers and the rest of them who push us into this are not to be blamed. They are bound to have us wake up in spring. Don't worry, friends. We all have nature, which is more powerful even than the packers, behind us. She will see us through.

NOBODY HOME?

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 28, 1919.

Sir: As since Saturday eve, the Senate is in possession of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which W. has been investigating in front of the proposed World Religious Congress causing the Pope's renunciation of power. December, 1918, the League of Nations idea, eliminated at the end of February, already by presenting the matter to all diplomats, but again put in front while in the Nature's consequences the elimination of every bit of fact from the Pope's renunciation are obscured by the tragedy with eternal ruminations in aspect, been even worse than the framing of the Tragedy self, traced to 1892 in the present.

After hard and fearful ages, "a million years and a day," they found peace at this primitive hearthstone where "the red and magic flower blossomed in the night."

Fire consumed cold, kept beasts at bay.

The shadow of superstition began to leave the world.

No more the aspen trembled, the strange invisible echo became a merry hollering child.

The imagination entertained visions of hope and home. A camper by the trail sees pictures in changing fire and feels the spell of primitive ages—the noise of savage life.

INCIDENT OF THE CAMPFIRE.

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

JUST A MINUTE

THE CAMPFIRE.

ONE rainy evening ages and ages ago lightning set fire to a dead tree near a cave.

The flames—a glory burst in the night—lured our ancestors from their caves.

Back they pushed their long tangled hair, the better to watch and worship the mysterious fire.

After hard and fearful ages, "a million years and a day," they found peace at this primitive hearthstone where "the red and magic flower blossomed in the night."

Fire consumed cold, kept beasts at bay.

SOVIET WAGE SCALE SHOWS UNEQUAL PAY

Regulations Reveal That Difference Is Observed Even in Proletariat Russia.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 1.—

Even under a Soviet Government, where the proletariat rules supreme, not all are equal when it comes to wages. A wage scale, effective March 1, last, was recently promulgated by the Entente for the extradition of the former Emperor of Russia from Holland. Members of the former monarch's suite have indicated by the possibility that proceedings will be brought by the Entente to the Russian Commissioner of Labor, with the approval of the Central Executive Committee of Soviets, which divided all workers into 27 categories. Each category has a monthly wage fixed.

The minimum wage a month is 600 rubles ($200), and the maximum 3000 rubles ($1500). According to the Commissioner of Labor, this relation of one to five between the minimum and maximum wage compares favorably with the one existing before October, 1917, when the maximum wage was $100 a month, 100 times as much as the common labor

NS FOR TRIAL FAIL

—English Oppose Trial.

Associated Press.

AMERONGEN, Sunday, July 8.—Former Emperor William and his wife are apparently unperturbed by the possibility that proceedings will be brought by the Entente for the trial of the former Emperor of Holland. Members of the former monarch's suite have indicated that it was their opinion that it was their duty to seek new fields with less fruitfulness.

WHY NOT "FORWARD TO THE KITCHEN?" What is there about the kitchen that makes one feel they go "back" when they go to work in it? Why this seeming repulsion? What part has prosperity played to cause these most fitted for this form of work to seek new fields with less fruitfulness?

The average worker in the home today earns more than the average office girl. If you don't believe it consult the employment agencies.

They are almost unanimously confident that they are here for a long time and are making preparations for ever for trial.

The average stenographer does not make $30 or $40 a month. There are thousands of stenographers working in offices today at $25 per week who have had several years' experience,

and have had to work themselves up

in order to get this amount.

And yet the ordinary worker in the home can get a job most any day

and step right into an equivalent of $100, and with no knowledge of that particular field at all.

Besides, what is more noble than to go into a home and play a big part in keeping that home healthy and happy? For that is what a good servant does.

Since when has labor, especially in the greatest of all pursuits, that of preserving life, become blackened in the estimation of many of those who have the faculty of doing this work better than any other?

To think with it all in a few words, has been that in the past

some overbearing and inconsiderate

employers have made life a burden to those who have come into the home as helpers.

And, on the other hand, many workers have had a distorted view that their each place has been only a temporary proposition, and the least we or he can do in the home the better off they were.

In a word, they were cheating each other.

But today the whole thing is different. The lack of workers has made it necessary for the arrogant employer to take himself or herself to task, and things are much easier for labor in the home.

The average home, especially in a large city, has been equipped with the most modern and sanitary improvements, and "light housekeeping" means just what it implies.

There are thousands of splendid homes. There are thousands of fine people who believe in the "live-and-let-live" spirit. The question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" has been answered in the affirmative. The war has done its fine work in this connection.

What, then, is there to fear?

Instead of decrying life, let us

demonstrate its good point.

Why not the doctrine of "do" instead of "don't"?

Also there is a great, big human side to it all. The offices are crowded with young women who do not care as much as the average maid

in the home.

The young women come out of offices in evening list with little or no knowledge of what home-making means. They have to go through experiences that give them many a hard knock.

Children are born into the world and young mothers don't know how to care for them.

And for what? Just because the kitchen and home work have been regarded as an inferior post.

In this day and age all labor has assumed an elevated plane. It will not go back. The dignity of labor wherever it is found will needs be maintained.

Besides, let the individual reflect on it all herself or himself. If your money is earned honestly and you have given good service for it, what better satisfaction than this?

Only yesterday I talked with a man who was in Premier Lloyd

George's mind. George had signed undertaking to deliver the former

Emperor for judgment and if Ger-orge demands him we shall be ed to yield to her demands."

The Prince said he had not seen

Kaiser or Crown Prince in Holland.

Central States Singles Bring To-ther Josties and Hayes and Brown and Gautier.

TUBLES START TODAY

B. Adone of Texas Will Have hard Match at Triple A Against E. Schwartz.

With the less prominent players eliminated from competition, the attractive matches in the Central States championship tournament beginning to appear in the pairings.

The fourth round play in the will be completed today, the first round in doubles will start.

Day's gallery matches will bring other Fred Josties against Wallace and Wray Brown against Gautier. Each of these players is a recognized title
as to make picking rather hazard. Hayes, won two matches, allowing G. N. Bishop and Val Satur-d.

He showed a vicious net attack which had done accurate. It was stroke which brought Satur-d to defeat. E. B. Rees, the Texan, today plays Ed Harris, a rugged player, the third and fourth day, and plays L. W. White Belleville, Ill. Inasmuch as White yesterday gained a straight victory over Cliff Albers, he will fairly well test Jones' competitors.

The matches will be started at 3 o'clock.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

I used to be mad about still-life: A picture entitled "String Beans" or "Two Larders" I could buy if it took Whatever remained of my means. A scene called "Two Prunes and a Cabbage" Would stir the far depths of my heart. A painting of "Ham and a Jar of Grape Jam" To me was the noblest of art.

I often dropped into the auctions And purchased these things for a song; My artistic sense was extremely intense, My taste never led me far wrong; And soon I amassed a collection Of portraits of onions and fish And pickles in brine and stewed turnips, as fine As any collector could wish.

Then suddenly up went the market: I found "Three Tomatoes" one day And "Two Flounders on Ice" were commanding a price I was simply unable to pay. A study of "Cucumber Salad" Was up seven hundred per cent, "Green Corn on the Ear" cost the toll of a year Of a humble poetical gent.

One day a great painter of still-life Whom I had invited to sup Explained to me why art like his was so high— The cost of the models was up! He told me: "Whenever I buy 'em And up to my studio fetch 'em. They cost such a lot, that more likely than not I will eat 'em before I can sketch 'em!"

IT MAY BE FOR YEARS AND IT MAY BE FOREVER. The treaty is signed and sealed and tied with a may-i-not. (Copyright, 1919, by Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

GONE FOREVER. It is idle to hope, even in these days of wholesale restoration, that the Government will ever restore the income taxes to their owners.

Shocking an English Valet.

HOW an American serving in the British Army gave a London valet the shock of his life was related by a soldier returning from England. A ragged, penniless American, worn by a year's fighting with the British in France, wandered into Y. M. C. A. Eagle Hut, London, and seemed so forlorn and needy that Lloyd George, head of the Y. M. C. A. Hospitality Committee, and wife of Lloyd George's secretary, took him into their home for his leave.

After a good night's rest the American put the valet "over the jumps," ordering his uniform pressed and generally boasting the houseman in a manner far from what that factotum thought a humble soldier should do. Finally the servant went to Mr. George to ask who the American was. Mr. George did not know why the valet asked.

"If I may say so, sir, 'e's makin' 'imself very much at 'ome, sir, makin' us all jump abroft, a bit, and 'e told me to send this cablegram," said the valet, handing over a message which read as follows:

"Dad, I'm home. Send another thousand. War is hell."

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Wilson returned to today after an absence of months at the peace conference, but that probably will be before he can start on the country speaking for the treaty and the league of nations.

Plans for the trip had been completed, but it the White House that probably would so time as to reach the Pacific newly created Pacific.

President Wilson was as being ready to place the disposal of the Senate Relations Committee or committees of Congress to questions concerning the treaty and the league of nations.

While no definite engagement had been made today, he was expected with members of the Senate and also with officials and others within a few days.

The President remained today, resting at home. Rear Admiral C. C. Knobell, his personal physician, said the President was in splendid
